COACHING RULES

Introduction

It is always the coach's responsibility to remain informed about changes in rules or other information regarding karate competitions in Sweden. The coach bears the ultimate responsibility to ensure that competitors have sufficient information before, during and after a karate competition.

The karate competitions sanctioned by the Swedish Karate Federation are based on the licence issued by the Martial Arts Delegation and these regulations are in accordance with the decisions of the Martial Arts Delegation and the Martial Arts Act (2006:1006). As a coach it is essential to understand that exceptions to these regulations or competition rules are therefore not possible. The coach must provide competitors with the best possible conditions when preparing for and participating in competitions.

Requirements for serving as a coach

Coaches shall adhere to WKF rules and any exceptions or additions to these rules as stipulated in SKF's approved Appendix to Coaching Rules for children's competitions. All rules and regulations are available at www.karatesweden.se.

If a coach does not adhere to the specified rules, this coach may be disbarred from the competition. The minimum age for serving as a coach is 16 years for coaching children and 18 years to coach cadet to seniors.

The coach

Competitors cannot serve as coaches and coach other competitors in the same category. Competitions for adults and children which take place on the same day are to be considered as two separate competitions. The coach shall ensure that competitors always have the appropriate equipment for a competition and shall inform competitors of their respective competition times and locations.

During the entire competition, a coach must wear training overalls with an identification mark and suitable shoes for this, but not outdoor shoes. A suitable t-shirt must be worn under the tracksuit. The clothing must be clean. Coaches may also wear headgear for religious reasons, which is approved by the WKF.

Tasks of the coach during competitions:

- Ensure that the competitor is entered into drawing in the correct class/division.
- Ensure that the competitor wears the correct attire.
- Ensure that the competitor has the correct equipment.
- Ensure that the competitor is prepared when competition is to begin for his or her class/division.
- Ensure that the competitor is aware of when finals/requalification shall begin.
- Ensure that the competitor arrives properly dressed for requalification, finals and awards ceremonies.

Competition license (only mandatory for Swedish residents)

The coach and competitors are responsible for ensuring that competitors can present a valid competition license at competitions in Sweden for both kata and kumite (from 14 years). If the original of the valid license cannot be presented, the competitor shall not be allowed to compete under any circumstances. Temporary competition licenses or copies shall not be accepted. The competition license, which also serves as an identification card, is part of the system and regulations established to ensure safety, self-reporting and self- management, and is also required according to the conditions by which the Swedish Karate Federation may initiate competitions in accordance with the Martial Arts Act.

The competition license is mandatory for participation in all sanctioned competitions whose regulations are licensed in accordance with the decisions of the Martial Arts Delegation and the Martial Arts Act (2006:1006). Competitors shall bring their licenses to each competition and present them for inspection by the referees.

Competitors shall always produce their licenses at the start of competition. Referees shall inspect licenses to ensure their validity. For kumite, referees shall collect licenses. The licenses shall be placed on the Secretariat table prior to the start of the match. When the class/division has completed competition, each competitor is responsible for retrieving his or her license. Should a competitor fail to present his or her license prior to the start of competition, the competitor has 1 minute to retrieve the license; otherwise, the competitor shall be removed from the class/division.

Number of coaches

The maximum number of coaches allowed in karate competitions in Sweden is 1 coach per match area.

The following protective equipment is compulsory in kumite competitions for children aged 7–13 years:

- WKF approved mitts, one contestant wearing red and the other wearing blue.
- Gum shield.
- Soft shin pads and foot protection, one contestant wearing red and the other wearing blue. Body protection and/or chest protectors may be used but are not mandatory. Groin guard may be used but is not mandatory. Glasses are forbidden. Soft contact lenses can be worn at the contestant's own risk.

The following protective equipment is compulsory in kumite competitions for cadets, juniors and seniors:

- Mitts, one contestant wearing red and the other wearing blue.
 - Gum shield.
 - Chest protector for female competitors.
 - Soft shin pads and foot protection, one contestant wearing red and the other wearing blue.
 - Groin guard for male competitors.
- Body protection is not mandatory.
Glasses are forbidden. Soft contact lenses can be worn at the contestant's own risk.

Invitations to competitions

It is always the coach's responsibility to ensure that his or her competitors are given correct information about competition registration, weighing, opening ceremonies, match start times and any exceptions to these. The invitation to a competition shall contain specific information for that competition. In case of doubt the coach shall contact the competition organiser.

Registration

All competitors shall be registered within the specified period. This period shall be clearly stated in the invitation.

Registration shall be made by one person and association/club responsible.

If registration arrives after the registration period has ended, the competition organiser has the right to refuse participation.

If the competition organiser finds that the maximum number of participants has been reached, and does not wish to jeopardize the schedule, the organiser may refuse participation of additional competitors.

It is the responsibility of the coach to ensure that participants are registered in the correct age and weight classes.

For participants to be registered for the competition, the competition organiser shall send a confirmation of registration to participants.

If participants have not received confirmation, the coach shall contact the organiser prior to the competition.

Registration fee

It is the responsibility of the coach to ensure that registration fees are paid according to the invitation. If the registration fee is paid too late, the competition organiser has the right to refuse participation. If for any reason a participant fails to arrive for the start of competition, the registration fee shall not be repaid.

Registration/weighing

If for any reason a participant or club misses the specified occasion for registration or weighing, the competition organiser has the right to refuse participation.

Competitor injuries

It is incumbent upon all coaches to ensure that their competitors are trained in and are able to use break- fall/safe landing techniques.

If the competitor is injured and needs some form of tape or bandages to compete, this must be approved by the Tatami Manager on the advice of the Tournament Doctor. An injured contestant who has been declared unfit to fight by the tournament doctor cannot fight again in that competition.

Should the tournament doctor determine that a serious injury has occurred, the injured contestant is not allowed to compete in kata or kumite. When the doctor declares the contestant unfit to compete for some time, the contestant's monitoring card shall be sent to SKF.

The tournament doctor has the final say as to competitor injury and waiting period to return to competition. Another doctor may not alter this decision. When the waiting period has ended the monitoring card shall be returned to the competitor.

Award ceremonies

At award ceremonies, competitors receiving awards shall wear a karate gi or karate gi with a club track jacket.

Disqualification

If a competitor fails to arrive at the specified place and time for competition (also when the organiser has clearly announced any changes via loudspeaker or similar in the competition locale), the competitor shall be removed from the competition. Competition cannot be halted because a competitor is not present. In this matter, the coach carries full responsibility.

Penalties

If a competitor or team behaves in such a way as to harm the prestige and honour of Karate, SHIKKAKU (disqualification) is the penalty for the individual competitor or team. Monitoring card/s shall be collected from the penalised persons and sent to SKF. The matter shall be reported to the Federation Board of Trustees, which shall refer the matter to the Legal Affairs Board for advisement. The Federation Board of Trustees always makes the final decision in the matter.

Safe sport

In addition, the following is required of both competitors and coaches:

- You must show respect for other competitors, coaches, judges and officials.
- You must have a good sporting attitude.
- You must be a role model for younger practitioners.
- You must follow the guidelines for a safe sports environment. All events under the auspices of the Swedish Karate Federation must be safe for all members and participants and completely free from all forms of psychological and physical abuse, verbal harassment and abuse of power. Any type of discrimination that has to do with, for example, origin, skin colour, gender, sexual orientation, language, religion and politics is unacceptable.
- You must be aware of and follow the rules against doping.
- This applies before, during and after competition, in physical and digital arenas.

Instructions for coaching children

Appendix to Coaching Rules with respect to children under 14 years of age

It is the absolute responsibility of the club to ensure that any individual representing the club as a coach in a children's competition is fully familiar with SKF's rules and competition regulations.

KATA: The coach must sit in a chair at the side of the tatami and in complete silence, until the child leaves the tatami after the match.

KUMITE: The coach must sit in a chair at the side of the tatami, and is allowed to speak to his/her student during "Yame", using only words of encouragement or simple instructions in a positive, calm tone of voice. Simple instructions may be given with the purpose of improving the student's chances of completing the match using good technique and without the risk of injury. Any coach who is in violation of this will be administrated according to what is stated in the document Consequences of misconduct in coaching children.

A coach's presence shall give the child a sense of safety and security. The coach is NOT there to spur the child to increased performance or victory. Coaching during an ongoing match shall be considered inappropriate coaching. Coaching shall also be deemed inappropriate if, during the time allotted after the referee calls "Yame", the coach is excessively loud or speaks to the child in a way that is considered offensive, aggressive or otherwise negative. Other inappropriate behaviour includes the presence of family members, parents or spectators beside the tatami, or calling or making comments from the spectator areas in a manner inconsistent with the coaching instructions given herein.

Children wish to develop and improve their skills and conditions and make their own decisions during the match. Irrespective of whether they win or lose, children shall have a sense of adequacy.

As adults, we must not forget that competition is a part of play and shall ALWAYS take place on the child's own terms. The coach, parents and others in the environment – such as spectators at a competition – are requested to remember that karate is an opportunity for play, fellowship and enjoyment, as well as physical, social, mental and cultural development. Our common goal is always to provide children with a positive experience that encourages continued training, competition and membership in the association, thus promoting healthy, lifelong participation in sport.

If a coach fails to act according to these instructions, the judges' panel reserves the right to take a decision regarding the consequences of this behaviour, according to the document Consequences of misconduct in coaching children.

Consequences of misconduct in coaching children

Regarding children under 14 years of age

It is the sole responsibility of the association to ensure that any individual representing the club as a coach in a children's competition is fully familiar with SKF's rules and competition regulations.

Actions to be taken in the case of active/inappropriate coaching:

1. If the Referee finds that the coach or another individual in the vicinity of the tatami is coaching in an inappropriate way or is disrupting the match in any other way, the Referee shall halt the match and signal to the individual to be silent (finger before the mouth).

In this case, J2 and J3 have a responsibility because they are sitting closest to the coaches; J2 and J3 can rotate the flag upwards and then point at the coach, if they have noted this inappropriate behaviour. Such situations do not require a "flag majority". It is sufficient for the Referee to decide on action, or if one or more flag judges signal to the Referee and the Referee considers that the coach's behaviour is inappropriate.

2. If the inappropriate behaviour continues, the Referee shall stop the match, and remove the coach to the spectator or other area away from the tatami. The Referee will then inform the Chief Referee and an incident report will be forwarded to the Referee commission.

Should the coach/individual continue to coach inappropriately, shout or otherwise speak or act disrespectfully from the spectator or other area, the Referee shall stop the match and call the Chief Referee. The Chief Referee shall approach the coach/individual and inform him/her that unless the behaviour stops immediately, the entire club will be disqualified from the competition; all results will be removed from the record and any medals to be awarded to the club's members will be withheld.

If a coach/individual is expelled from the area, expulsion applies for the duration of the competition. The coach/individual is not allowed to proceed to another tatami and continue coaching.
